Dear Editor,

In the October issue's editorial the deputy editor asked if readers think the flattening of the hilltop on the A46 has helped. Well I for one would say a definite yes, I believe it has. Visibility is much improved in my opinion.

I'm sure when all the work is completed the situation will be much improved but I can't help thinking the flattening of the hill and a reduced speed limit for a half mile distance with two average speed cameras would have achieved sufficient safety at a hugely reduced cost.

A little late for alternative ideas I know but it would have been a much cheaper and speedier solution.

Dear Editor,

Diane, Joanne, Barry, Ross and Eve would like to thank everyone who knew Phil Teal in Welton and district for their love and support following his passing. In the last 10 years this village has shown support and kindness to him, enabling Phil to carry on his life as normally as possible. We feel this has brought our lovely village together, especially in the times we are living in.

In the future we hope to have a celebration of his life and a wake. Everyone will be welcome. He will be greatly missed. God bless.

Diane Teal and Joanne Gray

Dear Editor,

I hope you're all keeping well during this pandemic and that you're doing your best to cope with the situation. I've never done as many jigsaws in all my 71 years as I have recently. At times the puzzles have been really 'puzzling' to do but it's helped me to be patient and plod on. I hope we can apply this way of thinking to the pandemic generally.

I find a good book helps to keep you happy, a local walk, hopefully in the sunshine, watching good dramas on the telly and avoiding too much news about the pandemic, which can be a bit alarming.

I'm so glad that Sue and Sandra are getting involved with Jacob's Well (see Shoobox Appeal, page 15, October issue), helping families and adults. So, keep knitting, knitters, and help to donate to that worthy cause.

Hopefully, the pandemic will be a thing of the past but it's made me appreciate life a lot more and to count my blessings and say my prayers. Make that phone call to your family and friends or to someone living alone. It can make such a big difference to their day.

Keep smiling.
