

Pandemic Musings

Drinking wine on the patio counts as an outdoor activity.

My doctor told me not to keep things bottled up; so I opened another wine bottle.

I always pour wine into six different glasses and call it a tasting session; it sounds better.

Drinking eight glasses of water a day is impossible but eight glasses of wine with dinner I can manage.

I hate those cheap and nasty water beds; I've got a wine-box bed.

Novinophobia is the fear of running out of wine.

The answer may not be at the bottom of a bottle of wine but, there's no harm in checking.

Benjamin Franklin said, "In wine there is wisdom, in beer there is freedom, in water there is bacteria." (Or a virus.)
