

Broadbent Theatre

As you well know, 2020 was topsy-turvy and I'm writing to let you know that non-professional theatres like the Broadbent are still closed to the public. But we want you to know that Lindsey Rural Players are active behind the scenes, taking good care of the theatre, planning new things and doing some redecorating.

Pantomime! Oh, no it isn't (as in previous years)! Oh, yes it is! And we'll let you know all about that when the details have been sorted; it's a surprise!

The theatre is being used to rehearse and work on planned upcoming shows and projects when it is possible to do so within the necessary safety restrictions. In the works are a production of the play Rope, a read-through of a newly-written play and a broadcast by a professional performing company. We also plan to reschedule the shows that were booked before the closure and we're looking at script and performance submissions and sprucing up the theatre for a grand re-opening. Remember to check our website and social media for updates.

Our thanks go to our members, subscribers and volunteers; your support and interest keeps our spirits up. We hope to see you before too long, but for now we wish you all the best in these difficult times.
