

HOW DO YOU LIKE YOUR PICKLED EGGS?

On a recent visit to a pub in Yorkshire, one of the Welton NEWS committee members heard another patron ask for three packets of crisps and three pickled eggs. When the crisps arrived, he carefully opened all three packets and then asked the barmaid to put the pickled eggs inside the packets on top of the crisps. Our committee member was quite taken aback by this request and, apparently, so was the barmaid.

My great nephew and his stepbrother recently had a discussion about whether or not it is acceptable to put crisps in a sandwich – they disagreed on the answer to that. My mum used to eat apple and beetroot sandwiches, which many might find strange but which she thoroughly enjoyed.

Do you have a favourite snack or meal that other people think is a bit odd? Do you have a friend or family member who eats something that you think is a bit peculiar? Why not write and tell us about it?

The Editor