

ST BARNABAS LINCOLNSHIRE HOSPICE

New Appeal: We have launched a new 'in memory' appeal featuring Marie Pattison who has worked in the supporter care team for over 37 years and whose mum was cared for by the Hospice last year. The Wildflower Appeal enables people to remember loved ones by planting wildflowers in their memory. By making a dedication to a loved one on the St Barnabas website, supporters will receive a special piece of artwork drawn by the talented Hannah Dale of Wrendale Designs. The wildflower seeds are embedded within the card, which has been specially made to be planted outside.

Marie Pattison, supporter care officer at St Barnabas Hospice said, "Mum's biggest passion in life was her garden, and she loved watching the bees, butterflies and flowers from her special bench. My wildflower seeds will grow in one of mum's plant pots to honour her memory. I like to think that she will be sitting watching over my garden, and these flowers will bring me closer to her when I am outside."

St Barnabas Hospice would like to thank Hannah Dale, Flowers by Mandy and Doddington Hall and Gardens for supporting this appeal. Hannah said, "I am delighted to support St Barnabas Hospice once again with the donation of the illustration 'A Lincolnshire Meadow'. It was inspired by the wildflowers and animals that make their home in our beautiful county. The money raised by the appeal will allow St Barnabas to offer more people in Lincolnshire compassionate end-of-life care."

To make your wildflower dedication and receive a special limited edition seeded card, visit www.stbarnabashospice.co.uk/wildflower.

St Barnabas has also partnered with Wrendale Designs to launch a stationery range as part of the Wildflower Memories Appeal. Hannah Dale's 'A Lincolnshire Meadow' illustration is available in greetings cards, jotter pads, shopping pads and personalised prints; all limited edition with profits going directly to the hospice.

Donations and Shops: We are operating a booking system due to limited storage space.
